Labour flexibility ensures stability

Volkswagen Autoeuropa maintains growth forecast for 2010

With the start of production of the new Sharan and stable demand of the Scirocco, Volkswagen Autoeuropa confirms the forecast announced for 2010 of the increase of global production comparing to previous years. With the numbers available at the end of the first half of the year, and the numbers of confirmed orders, the production is 6% above the planned for the current year, more 15% in comparison with last year.

Volkswagen Autoeuropa will continue to respond calmly and effectively to changes of demand, which are increasingly the “day by day” of automotive industry in the global market for which we produce and in which we compete.

The tools of labour flexibility of Volkswagen Autoeuropa were created precisely to situations of this nature, without compromising the competitiveness of the company. Once again they will be applied and once again confirms the importance of maintaining and strengthening them.

The new Sharan and the continued success among the consumers of the Scirocco and Eos, are reasons for encouragement and signs of confidence that has been reflected with the admission (temporary) of more than 300 employees during last two months.
